

LEADERSHIP COACH

My Experience

Senior level talent development expert

Accelerated business goals through people excellence in oncology/medical device, healthcare and sales-focused industries

Specialty areas include team development, navigating cross-functional relationships, prioritization and strategic leadership development

Entrepreneurial mindset

Created best-in-class programs focused on developing global female CEOs, founders and executive leaders

Founded award-winning program for Fortune 50 technology company

25+ years developing leaders

Specialized in developing the potential of high-achieving employees through leadership development programming

Facilitated global leadership development program for Fortune 100 company

Stephanie Goodell

stephanie@rippleandflowleadership.com
<https://www.linkedin.com/in/stephaniegoodell/>

About

Stephanie Goodell is a leadership and career development coach, specializing in developing leadership skills in your high-potential talent. With an extensive background in talent development and learning design and delivery, Stephanie understands what it takes to tap that potential. She knows that the right training, mentoring, and support ensures that your leaders are well-equipped to guide their teams effectively, maintaining a positive organizational culture, engaged employees and accelerating strategic goal achievement. She founded Ripple and Flow Leadership to help organizations develop their high-potential employees.

Highlights

- Background in healthcare, medical device/oncology solutions, higher education and leaders of high-growth companies
- Specialty focus in female C-suite executives and high-potential leaders
- Cultural awareness: worked for Chinese-held company and lived in India, extensive global experience

Results

"I have definitely been able to better understand how to lead confidently while also maintaining my value of humility. I am grateful for the work done with Stephanie which has allowed me to see the ways in which I can lead that feels authentic to me."

— VP of Strategic Operations, Healthcare Startup

Certifications

Executive Leadership Coaching Certificate
Institute for Transformational Leadership at Georgetown University

